

German Paint Job

Some countries paint their fighter jets for special occasions and air shows. Here are some examples of what fighter squadrons can come up with when allowed. All of these particular jets are from the German Air Force and are very Classy.

